THE STAGE IS SET

PROLOGUE:

It is dark and quiet: very, very quiet. Rows of desks sit empty in large rectangular classrooms, facing chalkboards devoid of knowledge. Not a sound can be heard in the halls where empty lockers face each other blankly. On each locker is a sign--a rocket, a mushroom, a smiling face, a football--and each sign bears a message for someone . . . but who? Where are they for whom all these things seem to wait?

A clanging sound soon pierces the silence; and suddenly, there is life. Lockers bang, and the halls fill with blue and burgundy uniformed beings. Lines in the office, lines in the library . . . hurry up and wait! The players all have entered---the teachers, the administrators, the coaches, the students of all ages--- and each one seeks to know his part before the spotlight finds his face in the crowd.

The setting: 1977, Central Baptist School; the characters: students and teachers, administrators and staff; the plot: unknown, to be revealed each passing day; the theme: some changes, a hope for an even better school, dreams to be fulfilled by time and knowledge, spirit to grow with pride in accomplishment.

On the pages to follow, the Central Baptist TROIAN invites you to watch our drama unfold. Yes, Trojans, our 1977 spotlight is on YOU!

ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE

Our drama begins in the early morning as we arrive at school. A random glance around the campus finds each of us assuming his special role: athlete, scholar, teacher, clown . . . each individual seeking his moment in the spotlight. Laughter and trivial conversation transform the silent setting into a place of life. The plot unfolds as lockers slam and classes spring into being. The action is as varied as the players themselves. There is the intense concentration of the student wanting to learn; the clamorous cheers from the pep rally; the silence of defeat after a game where the players gave their all; the satisfied smiles of victory when hard work has paid off, whether on the field or in the classroom. All the joy, laughter, smiles, and tears of life can be witnessed on this stage where every day people touch the lives of people in a myriad of ways. How will it end? The suspense is great . . . the future close at hand. While we cannot know what life will bring, we can observe the here and now: Central Baptist students growing, learning, sharing, loving---believing in the future and preparing to be a part of it.

Our Favorite Stagehand:
Mr. Lloyd Robertson

A Glance Behind The Scenes

He walks among us every day and offers a helping hand. He changes light bulbs, repairs desks, fixes a broken water fountain and always in a way that shows you that he cares about buildings--and about people. Since Mr. Robertson and his wife came to Central, many changes have taken place: some as small as a doorknob's being tightened; some as large as a newly refurbished gymnasium.

On one occasion, Mr. Robertson remarked that a school is a place that students should be proud of, and he has worked very hard to make Central Baptist School a place like that. During this past summer, while the cast of our drama left for a brief intermission, he planned and painted, plastered, paneled, and tiled until the new set only vaguely resembled the old one. The players returning in the fall found CBS changed and walked with pride around their campus-stage.

Thank you for all you have done for us. Because your efforts have meant so much to all our cast---stars and extras alike---we proudly dedicate the 1977 TROIAN to Mr. Lloyd Robertson, our number one stagehand.

To Honor Reverend Scott

The Central Baptist TROIAN would like to take this opportunity to salute one of the directors of our daily drama, Reverend Bryant Scott. Over the years, he has supported Central in many ways. In addition, he has taken the time to know the students individually.

Brother Scott can be seen chatting with students and parents and getting to know them better. He is also an enthusiastic supporter of the school's athletic program. Brother Scott, we appreciate your regard for our school, your interest in Christian education, and your concern for our student body.

THE SETTING

The address is 998½ Dauphin Island Parkway, but the plot of our drama has many different settings within the main one. Students may be found at work in the lab, the gym, the chorus practice room, the TROIAN room, the driver's education car, the typing room, on the athletic fields . . . and more. In each of these places, students strive to achieve, to learn, to entertain, to win. Yes, in each of the places, the business of education goes on every day. And whatever the future holds, the cast of our daily drama will look back and remember that this is where it all began.

SENIOR GIRLS TAKE EUROPEAN TOUR

In mid-September, Seniors Ann Dearman and Becky Spivey boarded a jetliner for a two-week trip to Europe with the Sister Cities Foundation. Stopping for a plane change in Miami, they were able to view the famous Miami International Airport and were surprised to find that huge malls separated each section. Off to Nassau, the girls toured the straw markets and observed for the first time cars driving on the left side of the street.

They flew to Luxembourg and went by bus to Amsterdam. In these low-lying countries of dams and dikes, Ann was impressed at the accents of the English-speaking natives. The main course at meals included raw fish or eels, and ice for beverages was a luxury. Both Ann and Becky were amazed at the wide variety of flowers growing in Holland.

In Wiesbaden, they cruised the Rhine River and toured the Marksburg Castle. In Rudeshime, they went to a disco and found that Germans danced stiffly with jerking movements and much stomping. In Worms, they stayed with a host family that spoke little English. Houses were cold with the only heaters in the bathroom.

This tour will always be a high spot in their lives. Both Girls have kept scrapbooks to remind them of their European adventure.

FEATURED ROLES

JAMIE ENJOYS WRITING POEMS

Jamie Scrivener, one of our graduating seniors, writes poetry. She says that her talent is not practiced but comes naturally. Her older sister possesses the same talent with words. Jamie has been writing poetry since the eighth grade. Her poems are usually about life and love. She has written two poems for this year's TROIAN. The first one, entitled "The Perfect Senior," is in the senior section. The other one can be found on the closing page.

Jamie hopes someday to publish a book composed of her own poems. Her favorite famous poets are Helen Steiner Rice and Edna St. Vincent Millay. She plans to continue writing after her marriage in June.

HOMECOMING HIGHLIGHTS

During Homecoming Week, our school was filled with the Trojan spirit. Some of our Homecoming activities included the bonfire two nights before the game and the King Ugly contest which was won by Mike Howell. The Homecoming banquet at Constantine's was a great success. Our spirit lasted all week, and rose to a peak on the night of the game. The team played hard but lost to Lakeside. During the half, the Trojanettes performed, and Queen Donna was crowned.

BEAUTY REVIEW
"A Christmas Dream Comes True"

The Beauty Review this year was held in December and followed a Christmas theme. From a glittering array of CBS beauties on a brightly decorated holiday stage, the judges selected Senior Connie Chenoweth as pageant queen. Runners-up included Junior Robin Hughes, Sophomore Paula Cohen, Senior Annie Karagan, and Freshman Sharon Wilbourne. The Beauty Review, an annual event at CBS, was sponsored by the Junior Class as a fund raising project and held at UMS auditorium. Mrs. Barbara Jenkins, class sponsor, directed the pageant.

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Williams pauses to greet a student visitor.

HEADMASTER, DR. WILLIAMS

Dr. Henry A. Williams has been the headmaster of Central Baptist since 1975. Under his leadership, many changes have taken place, and many improvements have been made.

Dr. Williams completed his undergraduate work at Southeastern Lousiana University. He holds a master's degree from Memphis State University and an E.D.S. from George Peabody. He received his doctorate from the University of Arkansas.

His previous jobs include being a teacher, professor, and counselor. He is the father of two children; Mary Melissa, 9; and Hank, 7.

He is enthusiastic about CBS and has many dreams for it.

ACADEMIC DEAN, MRS. MINTON

Each week, Mrs. Sylvia Minton sees many students for the purpose of academic counseling; and she also works with the teachers in the area of classroom planning.

She attended Carson-Newman College in Tennessee and received her undergraduate degree from Lousiana State University. She holds a B.M.E., a bachelor's degree in music education, and has done graduate work at the University of New Orleans and the University of South Alabama.

She has taught in the New Orleans and Slidell Public School Systems before coming to CBS where she taught math and music. Her two children, Doug and Stacey, are students here at Central.

Mrs. Minton works on student records.

Kim Toyer Named Rodeo Queen

On April 8, 1976, Kim Toyer was elected Mobile County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo Queen. Kim is the Senior Queen for 1976-77. Her duties as queen include representing the Mobile County Sheriff's Posse in parades, horse shows, and rodeos. She was interviewed by three judges on her personal interests and was asked questions about horses. She was judged on the interview which counted 50% and on her horsemanship which also counted 50%.

Kim has been on the Gulf Coast Today program twice. She rode in a rodeo on August 26, 27, and 28. Riding all three nights in the grand entry, she received a bouquet of roses each night. She also rode in the Bicentennial Parade.

Kim has received trophies for showing quarter horses. She received high-points of the year at a local arena with her mare Scoota Bandit.

Can Carol Beck's Fortune Really Be Her Feet?

If someone were to ask Carol Beck where all her talent lay, they might discover that the answer is in her feet.

Wearing nursing shoes, Carol does volunteer work as a candy striper at the Mobile Infirmary every Tuesday. Her work involves delivering flowers, folding linen, babysitting children in Pediatrics, and doing various paperwork. In order to be a candy striper, she had to attend a six week training session at the Infirmary.

Carol's tap shoes were instrumental in her capture of two titles, Queen of the 1975 Azalea City Pageant and Queen of the 1976 Carnival Pageant. Carol was honored by riding on floats in the Mardi Gras and Christmas parades. She has participated in many other contests that required her to display her tap dancing ability.

Her track shoes led Carol to win first place in the Alabama Private School Association track meet. Her high jump of five feet also set a new state record. Later, she placed third in the high jump in the Spring Sports Event in Jackson, Mississippi, and first in the high jump in the Mobile Junior Olympics.

One can only wait to see if Carol will add any new styles to this well-rounded collection of shoes.

Suzy Westover Is Unicycle Enthusiast

Suzy Westover has many interesting hobbies. Among these are unicycle riding, collecting teddy bears, and running track and field. An eighth grader, Suzy began riding the unicycle when she was nine and still rides frequently. She has been on the cross-country and track teams for two years. She began collecting teddy bears when her older sister gave her one, and now she has 20. When asked why she collects the bears, she replied, "Because they are so cute, and I feel sorry for them."

Meet Mary And Friend

Everyone has a talent, but not everyone has the very special talent of pretty Mary Crigler. Besides playing volleyball, softball, and swimming in her backyard pool, eleven year old Mary is an amateur ventriloquist.

Mary became interested in ventriloquism at a church revival four years ago. She was so inspired by the ventriloquist entertaining that she purchased a tape of the revival and began imitating the performer. Mary's father bought her "Willie Talk" -- and together the two started practicing.

Mary has mastered the art so well that she won third place in a church talent show. She has also performed in plays and for the annual CBS Christmas program.

Good luck, Mary! You ain't no dummy!

CBS Students Appear In Movie

Wilma Jo and Mary Jo Spanyer, two CBS elementary students, became real movie "stars" in CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE THIRD KIND. Although extras, they were in many scenes and got paid for their work. They became friends with Robert Blossom, one of the stars, and still write to him. Being in the movie was an exciting experience for these two CBS "stars", who learned of the parts from their grandfather, the director's friend.

THE ACTION

BOYS SPORTS

Our Play Contains Action, Too

He awakes at dawn and dons his costume in preparation for the day's shooting. Studying the script that was given to him after passing the audition, he hopes that his performance will be flawless. The director has given him a leading role, and his nerves are on edge as he reviews the most difficult lines.

He walks out on the stage and is greeted by bright spotlights and a cheering crowd. The action is spectacular. The plot unfolds each scene equally breath-taking. Thunderous applause salutes the final scene, and the stars return to take a bow. Back in the dressing rooms, the characters take off their costumes and prepare to face the not-so-glamorous world.

For those fans who did not recognize the cast of this exciting show, we offer you a complete momento of this unforgettable season.

Playing Football At CBS Is A Way Of Life

Up every morning when everyone else he knows is sleeping, the football player puts on his hot and heavy equipment and prepares himself for the strenuous exercises and drills he will experience that day. Although he may not have picked up a book all summer, he struggles to learn the numerous plays which may mean the difference between winning and losing. His dedication to his purpose never fails; football is not for the undecided. He disciplines himself to keep alert and in A-1 physical condition. He thinks "We're number one" and works to that end. Winning is great. Losing is hard, but even so, he becomes more and more determined. He knows it's just a game; but suddenly for him, football has become a way of life.

TEAM BUILDS FOR THE FUTURE

The 1976-77 football season underwent a drastic change from previous CBS records. Patiently, Head Coach Calvin Crist and Assistant Coach Gene Ziebach prepped their virtually inexperiencéd players in hopes of building a stronger team for the coming years.

Although the Trojans were defeated, they never gave up fighting, and their spirit was never quenched. Early in the season, the Trojans fought to score. After acquiring a new defensive coach, Joe Womack, Mike Howell ran for the first CBS touchdown. As the season drew to its end, the Trojans had closed the mighty gap in the scores and the Trojan spirit soared.

The varsity basketball team started practicing in October, preparing to defend their title from last year. The Trojan team ended their season 16-8 and went to State Playoffs as District 8 runners-up.

Coach Crist worked with a new team, and as the season progressed, the team showed a courageous improvement.

In November, they opened the 1976-77 basketball season by hosting a "Tip-Off Tournament." Not only did the spectators get to see competitive basketball at its best, but they were able to view the newly remodeled red and white gym. The basketball team was proud to play on the new court, and everyone agreed the bright atmosphere seemed to boost the spirit of the BIG RED PRIDE.

JUNIOR VARSITY TRAINS PLAYERS

The Junior Varsity program at CBS offers boys in grades 6-9 the opportunity to play competitive sports while learning the basic fundamentals. Training the boys when they are young prepares them for more difficult and vigorous varsity sports.

This year Chan Keller guided his young players through a short but relatively successful season. In the next few years, these boys will be the stars of the varsity squads.

The Junior Varsity basketball team got off to a good start this fall. They established a winning streak early in the season; and although it was broken, they continued to give their very best. Richard Purdum led the team in rebounding and Joey Jones in scoring. The junior squad practiced hard to perform well on the court, and the coaches and crowds agreed they were great!

The Junior Varsity track program is in its second year at Central. The team was fairly small, and there was not very much equipment to work with, but the boys had enough interest to make do with the equipment that was available. We are proud that they were willing to train on their own and emerge victorious at some of their meets. Coach Ziebach managed to coach all track teams at Central. Without his help, the track members would have been unable to compete in the meets they they did.

LADY TROJANS

They have quick movements and firm muscles, but they are not chorus girls. They possess the quality of leadership, but they are not producers. They come in a wide variety and when they're together, they make a spectacular showing.

Each has her own technique, her own way of acting. When the odds are against her, she simply changes the script and moves on to the next scene. Her life is not like ours. She must train faithfully and work hard to become an aspiring actress in her own show.

As the sound of encores fills the theater, she realizes that this moment will not endure forever. When she leaves the stage, another girl will appear to play her part. Although she may not be in the spotlight any longer, her performance will never be forgotten.

Ladies and Gentlemen- Introducing Our Lady Trojan

Ms. Linda Hatchett is the coach of the Varsity girls teams in volleyball, basketball, and softball, and also the coach of junior varsity teams in basketball and softball.

Coach Hatchett uses her whistle to start a varsity squad drill.

YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY BABY!

That Was Then . . .

With the turn of the century came the new beginning for women in sports. Led by Miss Elenora Sears, women began shedding petticoats, ruffles, and white gloves for more comfortable clothes that would suit their style and sport. Miss Sears was perhaps one of the greatest athletes of all time. She became an expert in the playing of almost all sports; and where she left off, "Babe" Didrikson Zaharis took up. Babe dominated the sports era for more than 30 years, and although she died at a young age, the sports mark she left on the minds of American women started a new rage across the country.

Women were no longer spectators. They were down on the court, in the field, springing from a board, flying down a mountain, swinging a club, and doing all the things that had previously been considered male-oriented. As the years passed, fans watched as the sports apparel of women changed. These changes awed society, and many women were frowned upon for exposing limbs.

We have come to the realization that every athlete should wear the type of clothing that will benefit his sporting performance.

Today almost every woman is involved in some sport: whether it is indoors or outdoors, whether for exercise or competition, whether she is young or old. Title IX recently was passed to give girls who are game equal opportunities to participate in any type of sport they want to. This also gave girls the right to try out for boys' teams (if no team of that sport exists for them).

In the 1976 Summer Olympics, American women brought home 22 medals, one of them a silver won by Ms. Murdock in shooting. Until these Olympics, women had been barred from this event. Last year, Chris Evert earned more money on the pro tennis circuit than most men. Janet Guthrie proved that she could drive at high speeds when she made the qualifying laps of the Indy 500.

Yes, we have come a long way baby, but the challenge of the future still looms before us.

This Is Now!

LADY TROJANS ARE NO. 1

This year the Lady Trojans swept through their regular season winning 13 matches and only yielding to one loss. Under the direct coaching of Ms. Linda Hatchett, the volleyball team exercised cooperation, skills and attitude which enabled them to finish the season in first place and win the District Tournament.

Afternoons in the CBS gym were filled with an air of determination against a background of returning spikes. Through endless laps and vigorous drills, nobody gave an inch. Total commitment of every team member made the Lady Trojans # 1.

The Lady Trojans basketball team started off their second season by hosting an Invitational Points Tournament. The girls did not capture the tournament, but they started their regular season as a force to be reckoned with and continued to show skill and spirit through their last games. Their games were as action-packed as the boys' were, and sometimes it was noticed that they seemed to heat up quickly to add sparks to an already exciting game.

The gym floor was pretty, but it was also hard, Some team members wore knee pads to protect their knees from falls, but others seemed to enjoy a sliding ride across the floor. The girls admitted that basketball was hard work and time consuming, but they all agreed that it was also fun. Their overall season record boasts of their dedication to the sport. They tied with McIntosh and Faith in the CBS Invitational Tournament and came in second place in their District. Cindy Clements was named to the District All Star Team during the District Tournament. Congratulations, girls, on a job well done.

TO THE TROJAN COACHES

The athletes and students would like to thank Coaches Keller, Crist, Ziebach, and Hatchett for the time and effort they put in coaching the many teams included in the sports program at Central. Student interest is only a small part of what it takes to achieve a successful program. The Christian atmosphere enabled us to have fellowship along with competitive sports. There may have been some bad moments that crossed the picture, but the good outweighed the bad. Many lasting friendships have been formed as the result of participation in sports.

We realize that we have not always been pleasant and there have been times when we questioned a certain incident, but those things have been forgotten.

As we leave this year, we will practice hard during the summer and come back in the fall to remain on top-not only for ourselves but for you.

Thank you for your continuing interest and support.

The Cheerleaders for the 1976-1977 school year were chosen during tryouts in May, 1976. Since then, they have engaged in many activities.

During the summer, they attended cheerleading clinic in Perkinston, Mississippi, where they were awarded the superstar squad and superior ribbons. They returned home and began planning for the upcoming football season. Besides practicing, they found time to help improve the campus by volunteering to paint part of the gym. They taught interested day care girls to cheer so that a mascot could be chosen. Under the guidance of Sponsor, Miss Dianne Misiak, and Head Cheerleader, Cathy Whims, the cheerleaders raised the spirit of CBS to the highest peak in the school's history.

J.V.'S BOOST SPIRIT

The Junior Varsity cheerleaders attended cheerleading clinic for the first time at Gulf Coast Junior College in Perkinston, Mississippi, where they were awarded Superstar Junior Varsity Squad. The girls spent many hours practicing cheers to perform at their games. They continued their spirited support throughout the football and basketball seasons.

Practice makes perfect for the upcoming basketball season.

THE STARS TAKE A BOW

Our drama being ended for the season, it is time for curtain calls. Those who have played a major role will be called back to the spotlight for one last moment on our stage. There is no doubt that it has been a memorable performance. As the senior class of 1977 departs to seek other roles, its members will not be forgotten by those whose lives they touched. In the audience, watching, hoping, applauding, shedding tears, are their parents and teachers, counselors and friends.

To Dr. Williams and his staff, this senior class represents the progress of the school; to their teachers and counselors, they are the ones to put the knowledge time has taught us to practical use; to their parents, they are the hope each one of them has for the future.

Amidst the applause of those who have enjoyed their performance and wish them well as they move to newer, more challenging roles, they stand center stage and take that final bow. In a short while, the caps and gowns that were their costumes packed away, they will glance back wistfully at the empty stage, heave a sigh, and walk from the theater into the future.

Today has gone. We look to the future.

THE CLASS OF '77

Senior Chuck Raue Has Many Interests

The interests of Chuck Raue range from breeding rare fish to collecting coins to presiding over a Star Trek fan club. Although these interests differ greatly, Chuck is equally enthusiastic about each of them.

Chuck has over 2000 coins from 60 nations that he has bought from coin shops and flea markets or has received as gifts.

He is an active member of the Mobile Aquatics Society, has nine fish tanks currently in operation, and has won many ribbons for fish exhibitions. He won first place at the Bel Air Mall Aquatics Show for his Pseudtropheus Pindani and African fish.

Chuck is also president of the Mobile Area Trekkers Association (MATA) and editor of MATA MATTERS, a newsletter put out by the fan organization. He collects fanzines (fan magazines) from all over the U.S. and has more than 200. He has also been able to buy 350 filmclips of Star Trek scenes and seven of "Logan's Run."

What project Chuck will tackle next we cannot know, but we can be sure that whatever it is, it will be different and interesting.

Chuck, shown here wearing a Space 1999 suit, displays fanzines, coins, awards.

Howell Visits Jamaica

Singing in the youth choir at Dauphin Way Baptist Church gave Mike Howell the chance to visit another country while spreading the gospel through music. Along with forty other young people, Mike spent a week in Jamaica singing, snorkeling, sightseeing, meeting new people, and discovering new things. He even learned to bargain with the natives.

While in Jamacia, Mike experimented with some new foods, including ox tail. Tea was served with every meal, and breakfast was the same every day. The only food item with a brand name was Coke.

Mike was surprised to learn that small children swim nude and that goats are to Jamaicans as dogs are to people in the United States. There are large open-air markets that sell fruits, vegetables, and congebread.

In the picture opposite, Mike is shown in an outfit he purchased in Jamaica. It appears to be made of American flour sacks.

The Perfect Senior

The perfect senior answers to every beck and call;
He comes to all the bake sales and helps clean up the halls:
He enters all athletics and always does his best;
He comes to all car washes, even if he just gets wet.

REFLECTIONS

And now the play has ended;
The grand finale, gone.
No more applause or laughter---
No longer silly songs.

What once housed a standing ovation
Is now just an old empty hall.
But the memories of smiles and encores
Still cling to the old grey walls.

As we turned and left the building,
Knowing we'd never return,
We smiled and thought of past times
And all of the things we had learned.

The final curtain has come down
Amidst sad and happy tears;
Once more the stage is dark and bare
And waits for future years.
